Dear

Planned Parenthood is under attack.

The nation's largest provider of reproductive health care is facing a highly coordinated smear campaign by militant extremists -- and now anti-choice members of Congress think this is their chance to destroy Planned Parenthood.

It's all hands on deck to save Planned Parenthood and stop the wave of attacks on abortion rights coming at us.

In recent days, three heavily edited, secretly recorded videos have been released by a group linked to clinic bombings and the murders of doctors.¹ The latest video just came out this morning. There have also been reports that Planned Parenthood's internal databases have been hacked.²

It's an all-out assault on one of the most important reproductive health providers in America.

Now, let's be clear on the facts. When women wish to donate tissue for medical research, it is 100 percent ethical and legal to help them do so.³

In fact, every day, in all kinds of health care settings, patients choose to donate tissue for research. But the anti-choice extremists behind this series of videos don't care about any of those donations. Their only agenda is to take down Planned Parenthood and end legal abortion in America.

Here's our plan to fight back:

- We're flooding Congress with patch-through-style phone calls and petition signatures to make sure every single Planned Parenthood supporter has their voice heard.
- We're demanding investigations into the illegal activities of the activists behind the videos -- including whether they broke the law by secretly recording Planned Parenthood staff without consent.
- Our team of policy experts are all over Capitol Hill educating members of Congress on the facts.

But these attacks against Planned Parenthood came out of nowhere, and we didn't budget for the huge fight we're now facing.

Thank you for helping to make reproductive freedom real for all women.
